DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1, 3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Funakoshi et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,359,705).

Regarding claim 1, an original sheet reading apparatus comprising: an original sheet reading station (fig. 4, reading part 107) for reading an original sheet;

a main roller (fig. 4, 106e & 106f) located on an upstream side of the original sheet reading station along an original sheet conveyance direction in order to supply the original sheet to the original sheet reading station;

a sub-roller (fig. 4, 106g & 106h) located on a downstream side of the original sheet reading station along the original sheet conveyance direction for conveying the original sheet which has passed through the original sheet reading station toward a sheet discharge side;

an original sheet feeding guide located in an original sheet conveyance path defined as a path formed at least between the main roller and the sub-roller for guiding the original sheet supplied by the main roller to the original sheet reading station (fig. 4); and an original sheet discharge guide (109) located on the downstream side of the original sheet reading station along the original sheet conveyance direction, for guiding the original sheet which has been discharged from the sub-roller, the original sheet discharge guide having an original sheet contact portion adapted so that a front end of the original sheet contact portion is set at a position where the front end is offset with respect to a straight line that links a reading position in the original sheet reading station and an original sheet contact position of the sub-roller (col. 6, line 39 through col. 7 line 32).

Regarding claim 3, Funakoshi discloses the original sheet reading apparatus of claim 1, wherein the original sheet discharge guide (109) is located in either an upper side or lower side of the original sheet conveyance path (fig. 4).

Regarding claim 5, Funakoshi discloses the original sheet reading apparatus of claim 1, wherein the original feed guide includes an upper guide plate which is located above the original sheet conveyance path, and a lower guide plate which is located under of the original sheet conveyance path (please refer to fig. 4, the upper guide right after rollers 106g and 106 h and the lower guide supporting discharge guide 109).

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 2622

Claims 2, 4, 6 and 7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
